Revised 1 p.
"A general view of Ogilby's direct and principal cross roads" (map) on parts of first combined page.
Two versions of Ogilby's original work, both in folio, were issued in 1675, the "Britannia, volume the first", containing both text and maps, and the "Itinerary Anglie" from which the main portion of the text is omitted. Later, beginning in 1716, various works containing reproductions of the maps were issued, among them the work of Storr which was first published in 1719 under title: An actual survey of all the principal roads of England and Wales. Cf. Sir Herbert George Fordham, John Ogilby (1600-1676) his Britannia, and the British Itinerary of the eighteenth century. London, 1905.

Oglethorpe, James Edward, 1696-1785.

A new and accurate account of the provinces of South Carolina and Georgia; with many curious and useful observations on the trade, navigation and plantations of Great Britain, compared with her most powerful maritime neighbours in ancient and modern times. London, Printed for J. Worrall ... and sold by J. Roberts, 1732.

2 p. l. vi. 9-26 p. 29^{cm}.
In so far as this work relates to Georgia, it explains the writer's scheme for settling that region with impoverished Englishmen. Colonization was actually begun later in the year. To be distinguished from an account of Georgia written by Oglethorpe many years after, for a later edition of Salmon's Modern history.

Oil; formerly Oil field engineering. v. 1 (no. 1-3); Sept.-Oct. 1930. [Philadelphia, Chilton class journal co., 1930].
cover-title, 64, 66 p. illus. 17cm.
Edited by H. G. Shedd and others.
Oil field engineering (v. 1, no. 2) was issued in Los Angeles (later in New York and Philadelphia) from May 1929 to Aug. 1930. For the months of Sept. and Oct. 1930 it was replaced by Oil, of which only these two numbers were issued. In Feb. 1931 the former publication was transferred to Cleveland and renamed as International petroleum technology (v. 6, no. 3) under which title it continued till Oct. 1932 (v. 6, no. 3).

An essay on comets, in two parts. Part I. Containing an attempt to explain the phenomena of the tails of comets, and to account for their perpetual opposition to the sun, upon philosophical principles. Part II. Pointing out some important ends, for which these tails were probably designed: wherein it is shown, that, in consequence of these curious appendages, comets may be inhabited worlds, and even comfortable habitations; notwithstanding the vast excentricities of their orbits. The whole interspersed with observations and reflections on Oliver, Vere Langford, comp.

The monumental inscriptions of the British West Indies. Collected and edited by Vere Langford Oliver ... Dorchester [Eng.], F. O. Longman, The Friary press, 1907.

2 p. l. 387, (1 p. 374^{pp}).

"The following monumental inscriptions were copied ... in 1913-14, before the war. Those of Barbados were printed in a separate volume in 1915. The present collection completes the materials of the Leeward islands, those of Antigua having been included in a history of that island, published in 1906-08. The Virgin Islands were not visited, and only a few relating to the Windward Islands, Trinidad and British Guiana are given."—Pref.

Omaha medical college.

The first school of medicine in Nebraska was founded and incorporated 1880 as Omaha medical college. In 1880 the Nebraska school of medicine (preparatory) was established in Omaha. In 1881 this preparatory school was expanded into a college under the name of Omaha medical college (incorporated June 14, 1881). The stockholders of the earlier Omaha medical college surrendered their charter to the new institution of the same name. In 1881 the Omaha medical college became the Medical department of the University of Omaha. In 1886 it became affiliated with the University of Nebraska, changing its title to University of Nebraska College of Medicine.
Publications of Omaha medical college prior to 1902 are entered under that name.Publications begin

Oneida community.

A religious society or brotherhood, the Bible Communists or Perfectionists, organized in New Haven in 1848 under the teaching of John Humphrey Noyes, and was organized by him at Putney, Vt., in 1852 or 1853, where it existed as the Father association of Putney, Conn. In 1854 it was removed to a location near Oneida, N. Y., and was established there as Oneida association, in 1861 it ceased to exist as a community society, and was superseded by a joint-stock company which was incorporated in that year as Oneida community, limited.

Begins: The passage of the President's message, which relates to the forcible occupation of West Florida, imperiously claims the attention of every American. The object of the writer of the following pages is to discuss the title to that territory.

"Signed: Verus." Don Luis de Onís was appointed minister to the United States in 1809 by the Spanish then in control of the junta government, but he was not received by President Madison till 1810, after the restoration of Ferdinand VII. He had remained meanwhile in the United States, rendering his country much service as he could, including the publication of certain pamphlets over the signature Verus.

L'Orateur du peuple ... 1790- (Card 3)

The first fourteen volumes are not dated, but from internal evidence the date of their publication has been fixed from about May 1790 to Sept. 1790. Publication was then suspended until Nov. 18, 1790, when the number, called t. 1, an. 1-2 (Nov. 18-14, 1790) were issued. It was then suspended a second time until Sept. 13, 1790, when the Journal rev. called Aug. 13, 1790, in 187 numbers, called t. 7-8, to follow the first six volumes, edited by Pélissier alone, or by Pélissier and Marius. cf.
